Potential Husbands

A CONFIRMED bachelors heart is like a sponge it can be full and yet not show it—or it can be wrung and spring right back into form

No man can possibly tell a woman how long he is going to love her but every woman insist on having at least a rough estimate if only in order to check up on him when she sees signs of a slump

A man can manage to get accustomed to the kind of woman who bursts forth like a geyser into tears or hysterics at regular intervals but the woman who feels him tip toeing around is the kind like a volcano who goes along serenely for months and then erupts suddenly and unexpectedly

Many a new man has been amazed to discover that the husband who couldn't open a can of peas or butter his own toast at home is known among his cronies as the best cook in camp

The only reckless loves these days appear to be the married ones A reasoned bachelor knows that an ounce of caution is worth a pound of explanation and picks his words warily

When a man glances over his shoulders it is not because he is afraid of his own shadow but because he is afraid of some womans shadow

Before marriage a man may wire a girl just in order to tell her that he loves her but after marriage he hesitates to go to that extravagance and effort unless he has something really important to say

The greatest difficulty in bringing down a wild deer or a wild bachelor is to get one of them to stand still long enough

Nothing is more pathetic than to watch a big blushing six footer trying to laugh off his two by four wifes danger signals

Large Attendance Expected at Last Camp Meeting Session

Sunday Service To Close Six-Day Meeting at Park

Rev. Edna Beougher Hughes and Rev. R. L. Bush, Evangelists, Will Occupy Pulpit for Last of Sermons Here; Special Song Program Planned.

With a high mark already set for the first six days of the first annual camp meeting of the Columbus district of the Ohio Conference of the Evangelical church, leaders of the camp meeting now in progress at the Garfield park auditorium are expecting to see an even higher record established for the Sunday session of the meeting. This week's services are the first of a proposed annual camp meeting series and have drawn large crowds each day since their inauguration last Monday afternoon.

Services have been held each afternoon and evening. There has been a large number of converts since the opening meeting.

All Churches To Join

Sunday, June 29, all of the Evangelical churches of the city and the Salem Evangelical church of near Marion will dispense with all services in their individual churches except the Sunday school and gather in the Garfield park auditorium for the final day sessions of the camp meeting. Persons from all of the Marion churches are expected to be present for the services. Besides the Marion followers of the Evangelical church numerous laymen and pastors of many churches will be in Marion to conclude the week's services.

Sunday at 10 a. m. the first service of the final day will be opened with a musical program by the orchestra and a song service by the assembly. Rev. J. L. Campbell of Marion, leader of music throughout the camp meeting period will be in charge of the music. Several special numbers have been arranged for the service.

Rev. Hughes To Preach

At 10:30 a. m. the first sermon of the day will be delivered by Rev. Edna Beughter Hughes of Lancaster, O., an evangelist. The subject of her address will not be announced until the time of the service. Rev. Hughes has had unusual success throughout her entire ministerial career which began at the age of 11 years.

At 11:15 Holy communion will be observed under the leadership of Rev. Hughes. Following the communion a praise service will be held.

Rev. Raymond L. Bush, evangelist from Sebring, O., will speak at 3 p. m. He will also address a meeting of the young people at 6 p. m. Preceding the 3 p. m. service there will be another song and praise service beginning at 2 p. m. The song service will again be under the direction of Rev. Campbell.

Services To Close

Immediately after the sermon of Rev. Bush an altar and consecration service will be held followed by the benediction.

The final services of the annual camp meeting will begin at 6:30 p. m. with a young peoples service. At 7 p. m. Rev. Campbell will direct another song service until 8 p. m. when Rev. Hughes is scheduled to again ascend the pulpit for the concluding address. The sermon of Rev. Hughes will be of the evangelistic type.

After she has concluded her address the crowning event of the week's work will be held. An old fashioned sing and fellowship service will be held and with it an altar and consecration period.

The Evangelical pastors and leaders of the church are expecting a great following for the services Sunday.

75 ENROLL IN BIBLE SCHOOL

Trinity Baptist Services Sunday Night To Be Devoted to Pupils.

Approximately 75 boys and girls were enrolled in the first vacation church school sponsored by Trinity Baptist church for the past two weeks under the directorship of Rev. L. A. Wood and a staff of 14 teachers and assistants.

The spiritual, mental, physical sides of the life of the boys and girls were stressed. The vacation school was held for the purpose of religious training in Bible facts and the teaching of the good use of leisure time. The religious training was accomplished by means of the imparting information in habit and character talks, missionary stories, memorizing of Bible facts and verses, hymns, and other religious features. The good use of leisure time was accomplished by the teaching of the making of bird houses, mail boxes, doll houses, doll furniture, dresses for dolls, scrap books and other projects. Physical exercises with song and music, both inside and outside the church were taught.

A splendid attendance was kept up through all the two weeks and unusual interest and enthusiasm was shown by the boys and girls.

The primary department met in one room and the junior and intermediate in another for the opening exercises at 9 a. m. each morning. From 9 a. m. to 10 a. m. came the class hour. Pupils were divided into 10 classes according to age. After the opening exercises came the physical exercises, memorizing of Bible verses and facts for a half hour. At 10:20 a. m. the hand work by classes was done. At 11 a. m. all the classes came together for a review of the work accomplished.

Sunday night the usual church service will be devoted to the vacation Bible school and will be held in recognition of the school and for inspection of work done by the members of the school. Hymns will be sung by the entire school. Other features of the school will be presented and the handwork of the pupils will be on display.

Returned Indian Mission Worker To Speak Here

Dr. Barbara Hickey Will Talk Sunday Morning and Night at First Church of Brethren at East Church Street and Reed Avenue.

The First Church of the Brethren, located at East Church street and Reed avenue, will sponsor a special service Sunday morning and evening concerning the work of the missionaries of the church in the mission fields of India. Dr. Barbara Hickey, missionary from India, will speak at both of the services. Her service at 7:30 p. m. will be a stereoptikon lecture on Indian conditions and work of the church in that country.

The Church of the Brethren has nine mission stations in India with 11 organized churches and a native membership of 3,014. There has been assigned to the Church of the Brethren Indian territory with a population of one and a half million persons. The church is spending about $130,000 for work in India during the coming year. It has 50 missionaries on the field and a staff of 205 carrying on work in 91 Sunday schools. The work of the church was opened in 1894.

There were reported 215 baptisms in the church last year. Ten of the missionaries of the church gave their lives for their work and are buried there now.

Dr. Hickey is on a furlough at the present. She has been in the mission work since 1915 in the Thana district of India.

The repairs on St. Paul's cathedral, London, which have been in progress for seventeen years, have been completed and the entire great structure has once more been thrown open to the public, the rough board partitions which barred out communicants and sightseers alike from its most interesting parts for the last five years having been removed last week. All of which means another treat for travelers in England this year who are admirers of fine ecclesiastical architecture.

Physical Health of Nation Improved.

Official statistics compiled by the bureau of the census show a falling-off in birth rates, indicating a tendency toward smaller families throughout the land. The reports from all the forty-eight states with the exception of those of Nevada, New Mexico, Utah, South Dakota and Texas have been tabulated, and of the forty-three states the returns from which have been tabulated, all but four show a decrease in births, the exceptions being Arizona, Michigan, Montana and Tennessee. The births in the forty-three states numbered 2,142,124, a decrease of 78,063, or 3.6 per cent., from the record of 1928. The greatest decrease in births was recorded in Florida, where the falling-off was 9.8 per cent.

In the matter of deaths, the record of 1,356,882 in the forty-three states was almost identical with that of 1928, but the infant mortality was not so great, the rate for the entire area considered being 1.5 per cent. lower in 1929 than in 1928, the figures being 67.3 and 68.8, respectively, for each thousand births.

An explanation for the decreased birth rates is not offered by the census bureau, but Washington correspondents hold it due to a combination of the speed at which the people of the United States are living and the present-day cost of living, which seems to have mounted despite the falling of wholesale prices of the great majority of the necessities of life. Of course, reference is here made to the real necessities of life and not to the many luxuries which today are held to be necessities. It is an old circumstance, that about the only articles which are noticeably cheaper to the consumer this year than last are some of those luxuries which masquerade today as necessities, such as automobile, radio and talking machines.

But, to get back to vital statistics, it may be said that there must have been improvement in the physical health of the nation in 1929 over 1928 to make this showing given out by the census bureau, for the deaths recorded in the two years are practically the same despite the increase in population in 1929 over 1928, which the tabulated returns from the forty-three states shows was 785,242.

Away for the Summer.

Fifty million Americans, more or less, will put the canary and the dog out to board this summer, stop the milk and the morning paper, pull the living-room blinds and take a last look around to see that everything is all right. They then will call taxicabs to take them to trains, ships and airplanes; a few will walk and the rest, amounting to almost as many millions as one's imagination can conceive, will back out the family bus, lock the garage doors and roll out into the street.

No one knows how much money the "away-from-homers" will spend, but it will be enough to make touring America's greatest business in 1930, as it was in 1929 and has been for several years. The money spent by Americans abroad and at home on their vacations has become one of the most important economic factors in the world. It is estimated, for instance, that the increase in American tourist expenditures in Europe since the World war would enable European countries to take care of the entire amount of their annual payments on war debts to the United States. The 45,000,000-odd people who did domestic touring in the United States in 1929 spent a mere $3,500,000,000, according to an estimate of the American Automobile association.

And what wonder is it that Americans have gained for themselves the reputation of being inveterate gadabouts, a distinction which they share only with the English? Every village, town, city—every nation or group of nations which has anything which Americans might care to see—welcomes the tourist with open arms. The American is beseeched to leave home by printed advertising, by vocal advertising, by visual advertising and by the vigorous tradition that going other places and mingling with other people is the one thing above all other that he must do to broaden himself. The world lies within a few days of his front door. Why not see it?

Tourist traffic between the United States and Canada involves a larger total expenditure than that between any other two nations in the world. Americans visit their northern neighbor by motor, rail and steamer, spend something more than $300,000,000 annually, and return. Mexico, likewise, attracts large number of tourists. It is estimated that 5,000,000 will visit that country during the present year and will spend upwards of $50,000,000. It is the same with every country with attractions for Americans—a tourist business estimated without exception in six-place figures or larger.

It is to be expected that the United States government, appreciating the vast extent of the tourist business, should take steps to encourage travel by foreigners in this country. While European countries are competing with each other to attract and harvest the tourist crop of 1930 Uncle Sam is beckoning Europeans to come over here. The United States has things to offer too—attractions which should be as startling to outsiders as European art galleries and cathedrals are to Americans. Commercialism is fast getting the world acquainted.

On the plea that his family would suffer if he had to serve a five-day jail sentence given him, an Omaha man was sentenced to serve out the sentence on five successive Sundays, his employment covering only the six working days of the week. The Transvaal gold output for May was valued at £3,893,905—nearly $20,000,000—a new monthly record in the district's history. The gold mines and the diamond fields of the Union of South Africa combine to make it one of the richest of Britain's colonial possessions.

The London Daily Mail announces that cable rates between England and all British possessions will be reduced to both the public and the press to the levels of radio charges, which goes to show that the radio has brought the British at least something beside croon songs and indifferent instrumental offerings interspersed, occasionally, by programs of real merit.

"GEE! VACATION MUST BE WONDERFUL."

Editorial Opinion.

THE CANAL OF TWO SEAS.

A first-fruit of the dispute between Italy and France at the London conference over the question of naval parity is the revival of the demand in France for the construction of a canal from the Atlantic to the Mediterranean that will enable France to unite her Atlantic and Mediterranean fleets without using the Strait of Gibraltar. Although frankly aimed at Italy, Great Britain and other European countries can not overlook the potential consequences of such a waterway.

The engineering features of the project seem to be comparatively simple. A canal has been in existence along this route ever since 1681, connecting the Mediterranean with Toulouse, where it enters the Garonne river and finally reaches the Atlantic through the Gironde. This Canal du Midi, which is about 150 miles long and has more than 100 locks to take it over a maximum elevation of about 600 feet, carries only six and a half feet of water. Widening and deepening it to permit the passage of battleships would be a long and costly undertaking; but from the standpoint of modern engineering, a relatively easy one.

Whether or not such a canal would draw heavily upon ocean-going merchant shipping is another question. Vessels bound from Great Britain to Suez and the Orient would have six or seven hundred miles by using the canal instead of the Gibraltar route; but would they save more on fuel by using the canal than they would lose in time, as compared with an open sea and a fair wind?

The use of the canal in time of war would be reserved exclusively to France. She would be able to combine her whole naval strength in the Atlantic or the Mediterranean without leaving her own territory. One result of this development would be to enhance the justification of Italy's demand for naval parity with her. Another would be to keep Great Britain's eye on the "escape clause" of the London naval treaty. As long as France has to bring her Mediterranean fleet through Gibraltar in order to unite it with her Atlantic fleet, Great Britain can look with complacency on her present building program; but the moment France was in position to unite those fleets behind the back of "perfide Albion," as it were, Great Britain would face an entirely different situation.—Detroit Free Press

UNCLE SAM AS POLICEMAN.

Because of objections made to the measure by Attorney General Mitchell, the federal senate has delayed action on a bill, passed several weeks ago by the house of representatives, designed to break up the business of well-organized gangs that prosper by the sale in one state of property stolen in other states. The bill, introduced by Representative La Guardia, is deemed a suitable companion to the Dyer act, which has contributed largely to suppression of interstate commerce in stolen motor cars.

The La Guardia bill provides penalties for the transportion in interstate commerce of property stolen or obtained by fraud, and for the punishment of any one who receives, conceals or sells such property. In addition it would teach criminals who, posing as merchants, obtain stocks of goods on credit, dispose of them to interstate thieves or "fences" and cheat their creditors by going into bankruptcy. Passage of the bill is urged by the national crime commission, the American Federation of Labor and numerous national trade associations.

Attorney General Mitchell's objections to the bill are based, first, on his opposition, on principle, to extending the activities of the federal government into the field of state police work, and, second, on the fact that the federal government's machinery for the prosecution and punishment of criminals already is severely overtaxed. Mr. Mitchell points out, too, that when congress enacts criminal legislation of the type proposed the tendency of the states is to slacken their efforts to punish offenders, thus leaving the task to the federal authorities.

There is much force in these objections. Nevertheless, there seems to be nothing unreasonable in the request of business interests that congress contribute by passage of the bill to the effort to break up gangs of thieves engaged over large areas in an organized system of plunder.—Chicago News.

Seek Source of Infection.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Ancient peoples had most of the same diseases we meet today. "Arthritis" is of ancient origin, and it appears to have been the curse of ancient days.

The Egyptians of 3,000 or more years ago were afflicted with it. We have had reports from German scientists who examined 30,000 Egyptian mummies. It was found that Egyptian slaves, who worked and sweated under the hot suns of the Nile, had almost perfect teeth. But persons of royal birth, those who ate soft food and banqueted sumptuously daily, had badly decayed teeth. Marked changes were found in the bones and joints of the mummies.

There are many types of arthritis. The word "arthritis" means "inflammation of the joints." In one type, the tissues of the joints are involved. The ligaments and lining membrane become inflamed. In another type there are fever, an accumulation of fluids in the joints and changes in the bones and cartilages.

One kind of arthritis, which is particularly painful and serious enough, is "arthritis deformans." It is well-named because the joints become quite deformed. In acute attacks there is high fever and a rapid pulse. The joints are tender, swollen and feel hot to the touch. Every motion seems to create pain.

Infection of some sort is usually at the bottom of this trouble. Infected tonsils, or teeth and diseased gums, constipation and digestive disturbances set up poisons in the system which Nature has to fight in the battle for supremacy.

Constipation leads to degeneration of the whole alimentary canal and the poisoning of the system through putrefying and poisonous matter. Arthritis may result.

It has been said "Nature is the curer of disease." Here is a case in point. In arthritis, rheumatism and gout a fever and swelling of the joints mean something. They do not represent a disease, but the reaction of the organism against it.

Nowadays everybody realizes we must aid nature in her cure all we can. To do this effectively may demand the unusual. For instance, in arthritis, instead of plunging the aching joint in ice water, bandage it and increase the heat and swelling of the part. In this way nature in her system of ridding the body of the invading bacteria, forms around the germs a defense ring to keep them from going further with the blood stream into the heart of the kidneys, those vital spots which are to be guarded carefully. In helping nature we use the same methods she does.

Every effort should be made to locate the source of infection. Nothing should be taken for granted, but your physician should be called in early and with the right treatment much can be done.—Copyright, 1930, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Dinner Stories.

"You always said that liquor is an evil influence."

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "And I always said the same about gang politics. When they combine, it looks as if we have a merger that is really to be feared."

Mother—"How much was your orange, Betty?"

Betty—"I don't know, mother. The shopman wasn't there!"

"We're going to be living in a better neighborhood soon," she said.

"So are we," volunteered Mrs. Nextdoor, confidently.

"What? Are you moving, too?"

"No, we're staying here."

She displayed much interest while going round the fur-farm.

"And how many skins do you get from each silver fox?"

"Three," he explained shortly. "If you took off his skin any oftener he'd become ill."

"I tell you golf is going to be the salvation of the nation, and lengthen our days by decades."

"But our ancestors didn't go in for golf."

"And where are they now? Dead!"

"Why do you stop at every filling station?"

"Because," answered Mr. Chuggins, "the filling stations are what make travel worth the trouble. They permit us to look forward to meeting strangers who are sure to be friendly and polite."

Arriving at Havre.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

Le Havre, June 28—The Normandy coast as usual was misty with a thin drizzle when the boys and girls ended the six-day buggy ride and began to disembark. Le Havre, despite a heavy mistral, at 6 a. m. was bustling. It is a seaport and "a big ship was in it." Customs inspection is casual. Women with mustaches do most of it.

Under the great landing shed the dinky continental train with its peanut stand whistle was waiting. Tourists have heard much of the brigandage of porters at Havre and of the brigandage of porters at Havre and Cherbourg. A single porter carried all our hand luggage from the ship to the train compartment and bestowed a gracious "Merci, monsieur!"

His tip was fifteen francs—or sixty cents. Four porters carried the same luggage from the curb to the ship edge—a shorter distance—in New York and at a cost of two dollars, and if one of them stopped long enough to bestow a hasty thank-you it entirely escaped me. And I'm a hound for such details.

My method of packing is somewhat like Noel Coward's. I stuff all my belongings in a suit case and then clip off the edges. I left on the steamer one pocket lighter, a bright yellow steamer cap, a left Russian red house boot and a bottle of sodiphene minus a couple of gargles.

The boat train starts with a quick lurch when a rheumatic old man pops out of nowhere and runs up and down along the track ringing a hand bell. Those not aboard when he makes his sudden appearance are left behind. We whirled by three amazed passengers sampling bottled beer from a portable cart.

An ancient philosopher has observed that the prosperity of a country can be estimated by its new roofs. Judging from that standard France is on the up and up. Havre and the surrounding countryside fairly glistened with freshly placed roof tops. A good year for roofers, anyway. And mimosa is in bloom.

The conductor with winey red cheeks and a sour winey breath seemed pleased the dog occupied one of the seats. There was a charge of one dollar which he collected and which—crass sceptic I am—I do not believe will ever find its way to the coffers of the Chemin de Fer Etat. But conductors must live. Or think they must.

* * *

In our compartment was a bright blonde whose fingernails were lacquered an ebony black. Her gown, too, was black, as was her cloche hat. I almost expected to see her teeth beetled to complete the picture. She spoke to the conductor in a rapid foreign tongue and lit a black-tipped cigaret. Henry Sell suggested she might be a crepe hanger by occupation.

* * *

It is interesting to watch a group of passengers glare at each other when they take their places in the compartment of a continental train. Invariably, they seem ready to fly at each other's throats. But after they ride a while they find they want to play patta-cake and not kill each other at all. Some of the greatest and most enduring friendships of travelers have begun in these haphazard meetings.

* * *

One of my best friends in France is a perfumer who quarreled with men seven years ago over room in the overhead baggage space of a boat train. We were both wrong, admitted it, snapped into a waltz and every time I come to Europe we exchange Alphonse and Gaston calls.

* * *

Harry Thaw, with the aid of his bodyguard who said he was an ex-newspaperman and ex-playwright, introduced himself while waiting in the Havre custom line. He talked rationally enough, recalling some reference of mine to him in these columns many years ago. Yet he still has a wild and startled look. Thaw has the most magnificently shaped head I ever saw. The mouth and eyes are the give-away.

* * *

All through the Normandy fields are glaring signs: "Visit Egypt!" The unseasonable weather of the Riviera has killed its popularity, at least temporarily. Monte Carlo has had the worst season in history, as have other resorts on the southern coast. On the other hand, winter sports at St. Moritz and in the Swiss Alps are attaining an amazing social following.

* * *

The train moves by fits and starts through the acres of chimney pots that are the outskirts of Paris. From the window one sees familiar signs: "Vin et liquers, Bois et Charbon, Defense d'afficher, Epicerie, Brasserie." A priest with pancake hat and flying skirts pedals along on a safety bicycle. An American leans out the train window despite the sign: "Il est dangereaux, etc," and shouts: "So this is it?" It is—Paree, Paree!—Copyright, 1930, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Stellar Radiation.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

The crime of the century is waste!

If science could only salvage all that is wasted in construction, manufacture and industry, the wealth and power of the world would be almost incalculably enhanced.

Consider the energy generated by the falling together of protons and electrons, say in a pound of coal. It has been computed that the annihilation of a pound of coal a week would produce as much energy as the combustion of the 5,000,000 tons a week mined in the British isles. A steam engine, we say, has an efficiency of five per cent., which assumes complete use of the thermal energy of combustion as 100 per cent. efficiency.

As Jeans says, "If we measure the work done against the total intrinsic energy of the fuel, as made available by its complete annihilation, the efficiency is more like 0.00000001 per cent. On this scale the efficiency of the sun and stars is exactly 100 per cent."

When an electron is annihilated, it produces a radiation of extremely short wavelength. As this radiation advances through the interior of the star, its wavelength is constantly increased. Gradually growing softer, it finally reaches the stage known as gamma-radiation. Thence it passes to hard X-radiation, then to soft X-radiation—finally emerging from the star as ordinary light and heat.

The radiation set up by the annihilation of an electron out in free space is traversing the universe continually, and we are all subject to its bombardment. In our universe, now assumed to be finite, radiation keeps traveling round and round, like a squirrel in a cage.

Suppose every atom in the universe were suddenly transformed into radiation. What effect would this produce? If the whole universe, apart from the sun, were suddenly to melt into radiation, it would raise the temperature of the earth less than a five-thousandth part of a degree!

It has been computed that if space starts empty of all radiation, the melting away of our present universe would raise the temperature only eleven degrees—or to minus 262 degrees Centigrade, a temperature well below that of liquid air. Calculation further shows, according to Jeans, that the universe will not become saturated with radiation, until it reaches a temperature of 7,500,000,000,000 degrees.

At this temperature space would be so full of radiation that it could not include any more. To raise space to this temperature would require the dissolution of a vast number of universes similarly to our own. This vast number would be represented by the numeral three followed by forty-seven ciphers! Says Jeans:

"The melting away of the whole of the present universe into radiation is something less than the melting away of a single grain of sugar in the Atlantic, and the radiation of the stars is as far from creating new worlds as is the sweetness of a single grain of sugar from turning an ocean into candy."

Thus we see that the capacity of space for radiation is virtually infinite, for all practical purposes. Matter can change into radiation, but radiation can not change back into matter. Ultimately a time must come when every atom, capable of it, will have dissolved into radiation. This will register the end of the universe.—Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

When we argue—if we must argue—we ought to stick to our reasoning powers rather than fall back on our emotions. And we ought to think of the question rather than the man we are having the argument with. Few arguments are worth while, but they might be constructive and informative if we could keep from being so much influenced by the personality of our opponents. It has been said that some people actually begin to hate those who differ in opinion with them. That shows we have not come as far out of the jungle as we may.

Somebody writes that the machine age has given the farmer a lot of leisure. He says:

"No longer the plowman homeward plods his weary way. He skips in briskly from the barn, washes up, eats supper and then goes to a movie in town instead of to bed. Mechanical ingenuity has become a bigger asset to the farmer than a strong back.

"One only of the old hand harvesting tasks has been left unconquered by machinery. There has been non royal machine road to the gathering of the corn crop. Once in the wagon there is machinery to elevate it into the crib, but no satisfactory way of getting it into the wagon except by the exercise of main strength and a supple wrist.

"Now they are talking about a machine which will waltz through a man's cornfield, husking and shelling the corn and shredding the stalks all in one operation. It not only, according to report, delivers the crop all ready to be shipped or fed, but cleans up a lot of next spring's work by leaving the field strewn with a macerated litter in shape to be plowed under.

"This new contraption, once its merit is proven, is going to make it a lot easier for the boys to get away for the Saturday afternoon football game."

Well, the farmers we know are not going to be much fooled by this description of their new leisure. Most of them are too tired when night comes to run to town to a movie show. In fact, a lot of them right now wash up, have their supper, and go back into the fields. Don't fret about the idleness of the farmer. He has little of it. Work as hard as the farmer and you will work enough.

Young men about to marry don't have to choose between brains and beauty. Late intelligence tests show they go together. Tests recently made on 150 of the fairest show girls on Broadway show that the average intelligence runs very high. In the manner in which the psychologist figures, the girls averaged an intelligence rating of 128. Groups of college women have been found with a rating of 127. A group of college men rated 130. And—this is interesting—a group of business men averaged only eighty-six.

Marion Girl Becomes Bride of O.S.U. Grid Star Today

TALL wicker baskets holding lilies, delphinium and greenery stood at each side of the entrance to the altar at Emanuel's Lutheran church where Miss Dorothy E. Thibaut, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Thibaut of 484 South State street, became the bride of George Alber, son of Mrs. Mary Alber of Collingwood avenue, Toledo, at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Palms banked the altar which was lighted with tapers held in four tall candelabra the standards being festooned with huckleberry bush and gypsophilia. The pastor Rev. J. W. Schillinger, read the single ring service in the presence of about 150 guests.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Dorothy Briggs played 1 half-hour of organ music and during the ceremony played "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" by Victor Herbert. The program included "Oh Promise Me," DeKoven, "I Love You Truly," Bond, "Tri Delt Faith" and "Tri Delta Wedding Hymn" "At Dawning," Cadman, "Salut d' Amour," Elgar, "Indian Love Call," Friml "Home in the Heart of the Hills," Kerr-Lee, and "Cantique Nuptials," Dubois. As the wedding party entered the church Miss Briggs' concluding number, "Prelude to Act III" of Wagner's "Lohengrin" blended into the "Wedding March" of the opera. For the recessional she played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

Following the wedding, which was one of the loveliest of the year, a reception and buffet supper for members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests were held at the home of the bride's parents. The house was beautifully decorated with roses, delphinium and greenery.

The bride wore for her wedding a gown of ivory satin fashioned along straight lines. A wide band below the waistline widened into the long train and godets touching the floor furnished fullness to the gown in the front. The long, sleeves were trimmed with pearl buttons and a narrow belt was caught with a pearl buckle at the waistline in front. Her veil was of maline and was made in cap shape, held with a chin strap. A wide band of pearls formed a coronet and the veil was showered with orange blossoms. Satin pumps matched the gown in color. A pearl necklace was the only jewelry worn by Miss Thibaut. Her flowers were a full shower bridal bouquet of Mending and white Killarney roses, valley lilies and gardenias caught with silver chiffon.

Miss Thibaut was attended by Miss Harriet Harris of Antwerp as maid of honor and Mrs. Frank Holtfreter of Toledo, a sister of the bridegroom was the matron of honor. Her bridesmaids were Mrs. Boyd Robinson of Cleveland, Mrs. Elmon Starr of Upper Sandusky, Miss Erma Anderson of Sunbury and Miss Mildred Bremer of Toledo. Robert Albers of Toledo, brother of the bridegroom was the best man and the ushers were Theodore Brownlee of Marion, Albert Jeffery, Theodore Haines and Walter Arthur of Toledo.

Miss Harris wore a frock of light blue chiffon over shell pink and her slippers were of blue crepe matching her gown. Her hat of horsehair braid was of light blue and her flowers were an arm bouquet of pink roses and blue delphinium. Mrs. Holtfreter wore a gown of pink chiffon trimmed with velvet ribbon of the same shade. With this she wore a halebraid hat of pink and pumps in the same shade, and carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses and blue delphinium.

The bridesmaids' gowns were of orchid chiffon made with tight-fitting princess lines. A narrow bertha in the front widened to capes in the back and pearl buckles caught the belts at the waistline. Arm bouquets of pink roses, gypsophelia, lavender centaurea and daisies were carried by the bridesmaids, the lavender matching the shades in their horsehair hats and slines.

Mr. and Mrs. Alber will spend their honeymoon in Wisconsin and Minnesota and after Aug. 1 will be at home in Massillon where Mr. Alber is employed with the B. F. Goodrich Co.

Mrs. Alber is a graduate of Harding High school and attended Tudor Hall in Indianapolis for one year. She graduated from Ohio State university in 1929 and in 1928 was chosen junior Prom queen. Mrs. Alber is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Mr. Alber is a graduate of Scott High school in Toledo and of Ohio State university the same year as his bride. He played on the varsity football team for three years and was president of his class in his junior year 1928. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mrs. Louise Schubert, Mrs. Mary Alber, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dougherty, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Roof, Mrs. Marie Gardener and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marlbetsch and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Eisenman, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Marquardt, Mrs. Elizabeth Yeage and family, Fred Alber of Toledo, George Herther and family of Saline, Mich., George Herther of Ursula, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. George Krauth, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daley, Miss Ruby Maulbetsch, Mr. and Mrs. George Unerer, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Mills of Ann Arbor, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. John Maulbetsch of Huntington, W. Basic Principles of Diet Important For Summer

THERE are some basic principles of diet that every woman, seeking beauty, should observe at all times. This is especially true during the summer months when complexions are more of a problem than they are in cooler weather. And, from the standpoint of beauty alone, I want to make some suggestions regarding your diet, hoping that you will seek your detailed information from a more highly specialized dietican than myself.

Seasonal Hints

Oily skin is the most general complexion complaint during hot weather, particularly in midseason. There are natural causes for the condition at that season and I'm sure most of you can eliminate the trouble if you will watch your diet carefully.

Fats and oils are required for heating the body and it is this simple fact that lies behind all the tempting hot-weather diet suggestions so carefully planned by those expert in dietary laws. It is common knowledge that the body needs less inner heat when the outside temperature is increased than when the thermometer falls near the freezing point. But so many women keep right on eating heat-producing foods on the hottest days and the inevitable result is red, blotched complexions that all the powdering in the world won't disguise.

Whatever the cause of overindulgence, the results are the same and not inclined to increase one's beauty during the most trying season—midsummer.

Therefore eat sparingly of sweets, fats, gravies, and confine yourself largely to fresh vegetables, fruits and cooling drinks if you would be beautiful despite the torrid temperature!

Of course, you mustn't do entirely without fats in some form, sugar in another, and even meats should be included in the diet for health as well as for beauty.

But all of these foods can be taken with discretion, and if you will follow this plan, you'll not only feel cooler and happier, but you will appear to be well. Which undoubtedly is a charm secret worth cultivation.

There are many small ways in which oils can be cut from the Summer diet. For example, sour cream makes a splendid dressing for salads and eliminates, at least for part of the day, the heavier dressing usually preferred in cold weather. I was not inclined to accept the sour-cream idea, just not liking the thought, but once I tried it I loved it, not only for its practical benefits but because of the delightful new flavor it gives to salads.

Substitutes for Heavy Foods

Buttermilk, instead of sweet milk, is not only tasty but cooling in its effect on the system as well as by suggestion. Orangeade, lemonade, limeade, iced tea with lots of lemon, all are more tempting than hot chocolate, coffee or tea on a hot day. And the substitution along with quantities of water, for richer drinks will go far to keep your complexion normal for the coming months.

Eat lots and lots of fresh vegetables, but prepare them without cream sauces. Cold cuts in the meat line tend to keep your body cool. Cold soups instead of hot, preferably consommes that have been jellied, make palatable substitutes for the thicker, richer soups preferred in winter.

Just try these suggestions and you really will be astonished at the way in which your oil skin and blotched complexion troubles fail to make their appearance as the weather grows hotter.

The annual consumption of ice cream in the United States has reached 324,000,000 gallons, makers have estimated.

Another league leader completed its first round of play undefeated when the Kappas smothered the Prospect firemen under a barrage of 18 hits to wallop them 19 to 2 for their seventh consecutive victory. Shovel and Serv U Wel stayed two games behind by defeating Excavator and Star. The Diggers had a tough time however barely being able to nose out a 2 to 1 victory. The Grocers coasted in to an 8 to 2 triumph.

The fraternity boys scored in every inning except the second and in only one other inning, did their score fall below three. They opened with five runs in the first inning and closed with five in the sixth to leave sweet memories of the game with the Firemen. Willie Baldauf drove out three hits in four trips to the plate and scored two runs while Hadlich and Gilmore the Kappa first baseman divided four hits between them. Orne Geissler had a busy day at short stop with seven chances, six of which he accepted. The losers couldn't get around to scoring off Rice or Rank until the seventh when a duo of talies came across.

Kappas Big Favorite

The victory makes the Kappas big favorites than ever to cop their league championship. Holding a two game lead as the second round gets under way it will take double defeats by the Serv U Wel and Steam Shovel to tie the fraternity team with one or the other of the second place nines and it just doesn't seem that it will be done.

Shovel A's had a terrible time edging out its one run margin of victory over the Excavators. They pounded Gilmore for eight hits, three more than the losers got off Cook but it didn't look like it was going to do them any good. Their two runs came in the fourth when Ballenger and Blandenship plated. The losers came back with one in the next inning on Adams score but couldn't collect no other.

The Stars held a one run lead over the grocers until the first of the fourth but the accustomed blow up then took place and the winners tallied four in that inning, and three in the fifth to clinch the game. They added another in the sixth for good measure. The newspapermen got one in the second and a second in the seventh. The losers had nine men left on bases during the seven innings.

Marshall Stars

Johnny Marshall Grocer third baseman had a field day while conducting the Serv U Wels to their victory. He drove in four runs and scored two more himself which only leaves two unaccounted for in the books. He singled in the fourth with men on second and third and drove out a long home run in the fifth with two on base.

Mutt Kellog pitched his second shut out of the week when the K of P nine blanked the Company B out 8 to 0. Only 25 men faced Mutt in the seven innings which is only four over the regulation. Six came to bat in the sixth and four in the fourth but in the other innings the side went out in order.

Willard Stapf's Drugs Oppose Merchants at Lincoln Park Sunday

SEES NIGHT GAME

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS June 28— Kenesaw Mountain Landis high his ball commissioner saw the first night game here of the official inauguration of night baseball in the American association.

Milwaukee walloped Indianapolis in each team made two errors.

This is the first game I have seen, said the judge. There hasn't been anything yet to indicate that the artificial illumination problem has not been solved. The high fly the line drive and the close quick infield play all seem to be effectually served.

Night baseball is proving the salvation of the game for Indianapolis in the American association. Whether attracted by curiosity or given proof to the contention that the day time is best crowded for the sport the turnstiles have been clicking at a faster tempo here at night than they have for years.

The experiment cost Norman Perry owner of the local team less $5,000 but he should not mind that now.

It may say they can't throw the ball by artificial light may easily have during the day. Besides they find the park cooler at night.

VISITORS HERE FOR SECOND CLASH WITH MARION BALL TEAM

Drugs Will Be Trying To Avenge Former Setback by Local Nine.

Back on even more on the safe side of the 500 mark in games won and lost the Marion Merchants will attempt to better their present standing of four games won and two lost when they tackle the local Willard Stapf's Drugs at Lincoln Park tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. It'll be a tough road to hoe to win over this team that ranks as one of the best in Ohio semi pro circles.

Their record is just about the same as the local team and against about the same type of opposition although it is doubtful if the visitors have met a team of the class of the Columbus All Pros who handed the Merchants their worst defeat of the year by a score of 7 to 1. Nevertheless the Drugs will have at least an even chance to carry off the victory tomorrow and they'll be trying harder than usual.

The reason for that is the extra inning defeat that was handed them the only time when they made their first appearance on the local lot. The Marion team reached the final half of that first game on the short end of the score but managed to tie the game up by the time the ninth frame rolled around. The fill started into extra innings and the locals won in the first one when Willard right hitter dropped in one of his that would have retired the side.

Same Team Back

They'll be trooping the greater share of that team back again tomorrow for their second engagement with a Marion team. Just who will compose the Merchants lineup for the Willard clash is not certain. Art Apple may start again in right field thus making it necessary for Harry Pine to go up to the short field position. However if Shoup goes back to his old position then Pine will probably go to the sun field and the old lineup will be intact. Richardson and Mullen will form the Marion batters with Neumiller Baron either Shoup or Pine and Rizor completing the infield. Glen Pyle who is jumping in to the leading hitters circle of the Merchants Razz Rowan and either Pine or Apple will do outfield duty.

The Willard clash is the first of a line of latter teams that have been scheduled or at least tentatively arranged for during the rest of the present season. Negotiations are being started with the Havana Red Sox for a Sunday game here and possibly a double header. The Homestead Grays claim to have all their Sunday dates filled but want to come on Saturday but this will hardly go through.

CONNIE MACK whatever his other thoughts, may be on the strange subject is fervently hoping that the history of 1930 does not repeat itself.

Two years ago after ten successive years of tearing down and building up the Athletics Connie Mack thought he had the winning combination. So did many others and so it appeared as late as September with the A's selling the pace. But when it came down to the stretch, the A's could not beat Washington. Connie Mack's hopes were blasted and the Senators captured the pennant for the second straight year.

It took the A's some time to recover from this shock. Finally last year it seemed that Mack and his mankers had run the Washington jinx to earth so successfully in fact that the A's pennant victory was due chiefly to almost complete domination over the Senators.

Now however in one of the strangest twists and turns baseball's game has known the Senators can have gained ascendency over the present world's champions able to whip every other club in the league with something to spare the A's lost seven of their first nine games with Washington. Twice this spring the champions have gone to the head of the class only to be abruptly hauled away from there by Walter Johnson's surprising club a seventh place choice when the 1930 campaign opened.

"OLD BARNEY" as they call Johnson in Washington has known about every turn of baseball fortune except the distinction of piloting a pennant winner. At the peak of his pitching powers he toiled for a consistent second division outfit. After 18 years he got into the world's series only to be pounded mercilessly until the last chance came—and was seized—for a heroic finish in the final game against the Giants in 1924.

Starting the 1925 series against Pittsburgh Johnson was the strikeout king of old. He won his first two starts but he was overworked and tired when it came to holding his own in the last game. Old Barney stuck it out in the ruin and mist but Pirate punch and persistence beat the old master destroying his chance to enter the hall of fame as a triple-winner in world's series competition.

BANK TEAM CINCHES LOOP CHAMPIONSHIP

Marion National Nine Now Eligible To Report to Columbus Tourney

Marion National clinched the Marion county championship of the American Legion league when Public Pep club forfeited yesterday at Lincoln Park. This makes the bankers eligible for the district competition at Columbus due to a new rule made by Legion officials recently. Instead of subdistrict champions coming to the Columbus tourney county champions will report for play. This puts Mt Gilead and Marion National both in the play at the Capital City.

To determine the Marion county champions all games played with Mt Gilead and Carlington were thrown out and this left the standing of the league with Marion National six won and none lost and the Masons in second place with three won and the one number lost.

SPORT RAMBLINGS

BY BOB ELLIOTT

THE Kappas showed extraordinary strength in walloping the mediocre Prospect firemen last evening. The south enders were counted on to give the Greek letter boys some stiff opposition but it didn't turn out that way by any stretch of the imagination. Nine to two is the final score and that's a terrible count for any team to get beat by. There's easily the class of the league and if they fail to win that pennant by at least three games should a jump in the handiest river in the vicinity. But don't worry they won't get wet.

Summer sport activities with the exception of recreation baseball and semi pro ball are just about at an end with the announcement yesterday that no more boxing shows would be held here until next fall. The crowd at the Shovel card last Thursday was slightly discouraging to say the least as was the crowd at the last wrestling show. The groan and grunt boys have packed all up and are through until the winter season gets under way again. So it's beginning to look as if Marion wrestling and boxing fans will have to travel to Columbus for their entertainment this summer.

IT'S looking more and more like the Fay Roundhouse for the Indus trial league title. They haven't been defeated in six starts although they did have a close call in their game with Huber last Thursday. Give this team a good pitcher and we'll pick them without the least hesitation to win the city championship. With a team infield is good enough that they can afford to play Fido Robbins in the outfield it's some ball team. Oscar and don't be mistaken about that. We look for the Shovel Club to furnish most of the opposition during the final round.

Talking about prize fighters Primo Carnera is scheduled for a exhibition bout or bouts next Monday night in Hall's Acre at Columbus. Of course there won't be anything to the match itself but then it should be worth the price of admission to see this young battleship that weighs 270 pounds and stretches six feet seven inches up into the azure. Wintin man what'll man! He's due to step two rounds each with two of his sparring partners although it was being blated around this morning that some Ohio heavyweight might furnish the opposition.

THE first miniature golf tournament of the season was completed last night on the Pom Thumb course. Sixty four entries were divided into four different flights with play extending over a weeks time. Match play was used in the tourney. The four winners were C. Newell in the first flight Knappenberger in the second flight Walter Guthrie in the third and Bob Kirkpatrick in the fourth flight. These tourney matches attracted quite a bit of attention and the matches especially the finals were followed by a good sized gallery. More anon O-ar old friend.

Association Record for Assists Goes by Boards

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO June 28 — Another all time American Association record has gone by the board. This time it is a mark for assists.

The new mark was established in the Milwaukee Toledo game when the two clubs ran up a total of 42 assists in nine innings of play. The Brewers collected the most, making 24 assists for 27 putouts while the Mud Hens made 18. Only two putouts were made by the Brewer outfield.

The ten home runs the New York Yankees and the Philadelphia Athletics lofted out in a recent game equalled a major league record set in 1925 by the St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Nationals.

SCHMELING DEPARTS FOR NATIVE COUNTRY

Avers That He'll Be Back for Contest with Sharkey, but Walsh Don't Know.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
I. N. S. Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 28 — Max Schmeling the Herr prize fighter, left the land of the free at midnight last night on the Bremen bound for Europe and the heavyweight championship of the world with him. He is coming back before the end of the summer they say but whether the title was coming with him remained a moot point although the Herr Schmeling saw at some points to file a demurrer against a current thought to this purport and to believe that he thus was taking plenty of prairie which trimmed from the vulgarian means to run out.

The Herr Schmeling departed with this version. He did not. He said that if there was no preachight with Sharkey in September it wouldn't be because he was unwilling, to bust it. If it seems wants to do a lot of things for the land of the free. Free. He didn't disagree with that version. It even gave him the heavyweight championship for nothing.

Hell Fight

I make only one promise to the American public said he just before sailing. The promise I make is that another fight with Sharkey will be held in September if the public and Sharkey are willing. I do nothing to interfere with that plan. I do everything I can to bring about. But I must be protected against trouble and until the promoters give me assurance of this the fight can't go on. I hope Manager Joe will be able to straighten this matter out while I am home so that I can come back ready to fight. My victory was questioned because of Sharkey's foul. That is as it should be. I want America to know that I am no more satisfied with this than it is.

Meantime, it appears that the second Sharkey Schmeling fight is no nearer fulfillment than it was the morning after the original mix-up at which time it was farther away than a wild pitch. Schmeling and his manager the Herr Jake who mastered his German in 10 simple lessons at the corner delicatessen, accepted Sharkey's defi for another fight but exacted several conditions none of which has been met.

Where Is Bulow?

As a matter of fact they are still trying to meet the first condition with so little success that they haven't even met the man who could make it possible the Herr Arthur Bulow. The latter seems to be a gentleman who keeps his own counsel and his appointments as seldom as possible for the garden people have been known to sit around for hours waiting for the man to break an engagement. Unless they get his name on a certain document the fight can't go on so maybe he is really the people's friend after all.

Just to keep the record straight, the Herr Bulow is Schmeling's manager once removed. Once was enough.

Anyhow I understand the German has so little faith in the Sharkey arrangements that although he promises to be back ready to fight early in August he is considering the possibilities of a meeting with Tom Heeney in Germany before the close of the outdoor season. If he goes with Hans it from there will be no possibilities. These will be probabilities. They all him Honest Tom because he is so dependable.

Hopes To Sign Up Fighters by July 3

By International News Service

NEW YORK June 28—Frank Bruno vice president of Madison Square Garden said today he hoped to sign contracts by next Thursday for the second Max Schmeling-Jack Sharkey heavyweight battle. It is planned to stage the fight September 18 or 20 in Yankee Stadium.

Bruno indicated he had reached an agreement with Arthur Bulow Schmeling's discarded pilot. Under the proposed plan Bulow will receive 20 percent of the German fighters purse while Sharkey has agreed to pay out of his end Schmeling will get 37½ percent and Sharkey only 12 and one half percent of the net proceeds.

Bulow in turn will give all over 20 percent of his share to Charlie Boose a New York manager who has a six percent interest in Schmeling.

Bulow himself has not confirmed the agreement. Bruno said however he expected to make official announcement of signing the fight contracts within a few days.

BISHOP AND MILLER BATTLE IN AMATEUR

"Unknowns" Reach Finals In Toledo Tourney for Simon-Pure Title

By International News Service

TOLEDO O. June 28—Two strangers to the annals of Ohio links were all that remained today of a once imposing field of aspiring champions. They are Glen Bishop 20 year old Columbus chap from the fairways of the Elks Club and Raymond L. Miller youthful Toledoan.

Down the straightaway over the greens through the roughs and past the hazards of the Toledo country club these two hitherto little known for the crown of the 27th annual Ohio amateur golf championship. Five days ago these two were practically the same as nonentities but today will one of them is a champion and the other the runner up. Golf is that way.

It was youth against the old guard in the semi final round yesterday and youth was victorious. Bishop and Miller both tackled veterans of the Ohio links in the semi finals and the unknowns won.

Bishop who is a native of Illinois slipped into the finals by defeating a fellow townsman Raleigh Lee three and two. Lee is a veteran while the tournament for Bishop was his first Ohio amateur. The former played determined golf. The latter played as though inspired.

Miller won his way into the finals by defeating the veteran Harold Weber of Toledo four times state champion four and three.

In the quarter finals Miller emerged victorious over Eddie Hamlet of Dayton four and two. Bishop defeated Nelson Rudds Cincinnati star two up. Weber conquered Walter Pacer of Toledo three and two and Lee stopped Harry Swartzer of Cleveland four and three.

The match today for the championship will be played over 36 holes of the country club. Eighteen of them will be traversed in the morning and 18 in the afternoon.

KIKI CUYLER HERO AS CUBS EVEN UP TILTS WITH LOOP LEADERS

Bruins Cut Down Robins' Lead by Winning Out in Tenth Frame.

NEW YORK June 28—In the tenth inning and the score tied a runner on third two out and two strikes on the batter, 50,000 fans felt their heart strings grow taunt as the pitcher winds up and then—bam!—a beautiful homer.

No not Frank Merriwell but real life and Kiki Cuyler today wears the halo of glory as the man who beat the Brooklyn Robins for he slammed the old wineskin just like that to-day and sent the Cubs home victors 7 to 5 and closer and closer on the wings of the league leading flock.

The American chieftains the Athletics who lost but garnered extra margin as they broke even with the Browns in a twin bill. Lefty Grove neglected his pitching to hit a homer while Dick Coffman scattered the Mick blasts and won for the Browns 8 to 2. Quinn pitched nice ball in the first inner and also homered along with Simmons and Foxx, who got his twentieth and the As naturally took it 8 to 3.

Washington's long predicted break just did not check in and the Senators grabbed off their seventh straight lowering the Tigers 6 to 4. Manush got a homer and drove in four Washington runs.

Like Ruth was very kindly and whiled his twenty seventh circuiter inside a dazzling one paw basket act. Hitler did a larceny of second but it was all to no avail as George Pipgras received a bombardment permitting Cleveland to win over the Yanks 11 to 7. Bob Fothergill the Indian slugger.

Ted Fitzsimmons flung good ball for the Giants after a bad start and Burleigh Grimes oblized by blowing up again as the Giants won from St. Louis 9 to 4. Leach's homer with two on helped.

Maine was more effective than Willoughby and Elliott and the Pirates downed the Phillies 6 to 4. Five runs in the eighth inning overlook the Braves early lead and Cincinnati triumphed 7 to 6.

Rain halted out Chicago and Boston in the American play.

LAST NIGHT at the THEATERS

Del Rio, Lowe in "The Bad One"

"THE Bad One at the Palace for last time tonight is not a bad one to look at Because the bad one is Dolores Del Rio a senorita of no mean accomplishments

Dolores does the Spanish fandango for the sailor lads in a cabaret has out keys to her room by the dozen—but they won't fit—and boasts a long list of admirers

Then comes the hero Edmund Lowe, with all the confidence in the world or maybe a little more Of course it's all just a matter of opinion but to some in the audience Edmund can't get away with that "big" line as cleverly as William Haines His part was just the type that the cocky Bunce would have reveled in

Edmund quits his ship just to concentrate on Lita the charming Dolores She gets him into enough trouble to break any man's love for her but somehow when the final scenes are shown the lady are together, and as Edmund would have it, Everything's under control'

Royal Spencer's handiwork on the Palace organ is a treat and a valuable contribution to the program of the theater Two short features and a motion picture news reel complete the Palace bill

ELECTRIC CHAIR CLAIMS KILLER

Geo. Williams, 68, Slayer of Four, Goes to Execution Defiantly

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O June 28—Death in the electric chair early today closed the long criminal career of George Williams 65 year old robber and killer

Maintaining to the last the defiant attitude that had characterized his actions since he was sentenced to die for the murder of a Cleveland policeman Williams entered the death chamber shortly after midnight and uttered no word until he was seated in the chair at 12 08 a m

Then as a guard was adjusting the electrode to his leg the gray haired slayer in his usual harsh voice said "Don't poke a hole through my leg"

That was the last At 12 09 the current was turned on and he was dead at 12 14

Time Advanced

The electrocution was the first to be carried out soon after midnight since two years ago when the legislature made it optional with the warden as to the hour the prisoner should go to the chair on the day he was sentenced to die Warden Preston E Thomas did not explain why he advanced the time in Williams case but reports have been current that officials feared an attempt would be made to liberate him from the temporary death row at city jail

Williams was one of the most unruly prisoners ever placed in the death house He cursed the guards and threatened to kill them Recently he had insisted that he would "beat the chair" Several days ago a black jack was found in the death house and it was believed he might have planned an attempt to kill himself with it

Long Crime Record

Williams known as a hardened gunman, spent two score years following a trail of crime that led through Ohio Michigan, Illinois and Missouri He was blamed for at least four murders He was put to death for killing Patrolman Sherman at Cleveland The officer was shot when he attempted to arrest Williams and his young accomplice Charles Hanovich for stealing an automobile

He was also known to have killed Justus Brown Columbus grocer during a holdup and other murders in the midwest were laid at his door
